RUSSIA REJECTS ANY IDEA OF A SEPARATE PEACE WITH GERMANY

New Ambassador From Newest Republic Stirs House To Cheers With Clear Statement of Russian Position

CHEERED HEARTILY AS WAS JOFFRE

Washington, June 23.—A storm of cheers that echoed and reverberated through the Capitol greeted Prof. Boris Bakhmeteff, head of the Russian Commission and the new ambassador to the United States when he declared in the House today that "Russia rejects any idea of a separate peace. The statement that Russia is for the establishment of a firm and lasting peace among Democratic nations. German autocracy prevents such peace. The new Russia is reorganizing its forces for active service with its allies."

Bakhmeteff was cheered as heartily and spontaneously as was Marshal Joffre.

Speaker Clark introduced Bakhmeteff as the "first ambassador from the Republic of Russia." Representative Meyer London, Socialist of New York, a native of Russia, was a member of the committee that greeted the mission. London was still smiling his pleasure when the Russian mission left the Capitol.

Third Submarine Sunk By Armed Merchantman, According To Report

An Atlantic Port, June 23.—Another submarine was fired upon and hit by an American vessel it was reported today by the ship's crew which reached an Atlantic port. The firing took place June 6. The vessel was a day out from Genoa it was stated. The submarine was 600 yards from the vessel when she fired a torpedo which the ship avoided. The stern gun immediately opened fire and blew off the submarine's periscope. The submarine disappeared. The American vessel was not damaged.

Today Will Bring Red Cross To 80 Million

Expected That By Monday It Will Be Handsomely Oversubscribed

(By United Press) Washington, June 23.—Over subscription to the $100,000,000 Red Cross war fund will rival the over subscription to the Liberty Loan. According to returns coming in $80,000,000 will be reached this evening with some of the heaviest contributions to come. Church collections tomorrow will swell the fund which will provide comforts for the wounded American soldiers in France. On Monday big efforts will be made—it being Pershing Day.

REPORT COUCH'S CONFESSION

New York, June 23.—Confession at Bologna, Italy, by Alfredo Couchi that he murdered Ruth Cuper was reported in press dispatches to police heads here today. With this evidence of laxness in the police department will come a general shake-up in the New York police system.

SECRETARY OF WAR CAN ACQUIRE DEFENSE LANDS

Washington, June 23.—The House today passed unanimously a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to acquire lands for coast defense purposes or for army cantonments by lease or occupation for the period of the war.

SENT TO THE "FOOLISH HOUSE"

Looley failed to bowl for the Red Sox this morning because caretaker Taylor went to the Danville asylum yesterday and failed to be substituted. Taylor will be back alright and will be on the job for the start of the campaign Monday night.

DOING THEIR BIT

The Third Ward ladies, Matthews, Mrs. Bachmann, Sophie Lloyd, assisted in the collecting money for the Red Cross by opening a refreshment stand at the local chapter.

WAR PROSPERITY HITS NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS

Washington Is Thronged With People and Every Available Room Has Been Rented

FAMINE IN STENOGRAPHERS

(By United Press) Washington, June 23.—War prosperity has hit Washington and those who have rooms to rent are getting rich. The Capitol's population is growing rapidly. Every train brings its load. War talk fills the air.

The government and the various industries that have established War headquarters here will need 50,000 more clerks before the dog days, according to conservative estimates. Already there is a famine in stenographers. Uncle Sam commandeered them.

New government offices are springing up all over the city. Department offices which for generations have been small, quiet affairs have suddenly become bloated to 20 times their usual size. This means more employees. The restaurants are busier than Coney Island chowder kitchens. The street cars are almost always jammed to the guards and frequently blocked. Apartment houses have made into hotels—residences into apartments. In some cases startling prices are demanded for cots. All rents are upward bound.

The telephone service is swamped—the messenger service overwhelmed. Streets are crowded and the aged hackmen are investing in Liberty Bonds. Now Uncle Sam is meditating commandeering more office space and ousting private firms. It's a seething situation—but—as the French say: "C'est la guerre."

MAINES—FLOOD

Miss Eva Maines daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maines of LeCombes Mills and John Flood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martha Flood, of Odessa, were married here on Tuesday by Rev. Resh. of the West Side M. E. church.

Miss Rachel Flood, sister of the groom and Harry Maines brother of the bride attended the couple.

After the ceremony they motored to the bride's home where one hundred and fifty guests awaited their arrival and an excellent dinner was served. Heartly congratulations follow the happy couple.

OIL COMPANY OPENING BRANCH

The Independent Oil Company, with headquarters at Altoona, is arranging to open a branch establishment in Clearfield on an elaborate scale. They are erecting a ware house 40 x 60 feet in size near the B. & P. station.

This ware house when completed will contain two 12,000 gallon storage tanks. A garage for the delivery trucks of the company is also being erected.

Fred T. Wilson of Reed street will be in charge of the Clearfield branch.

More Aviators Join The Lafayette Squadron

All Are Americans of Considerable Experience and Notoriety

(By United Press)

Paris, June 23.—Four additional American aviators have joined the Lafayette Flying Squadron according to word received here from the front today. They are Adjutant Duher, Manson, former aviation instructor at Camp Avoort and well known on account of his flying experience with Garza's army in Mexico. Corp. Daniel McDonnell, aged 25 years, of San Francisco. His mother lives at 2000 Broadway, New York. Corp. D. M. Peterson, of Honesdale, Pa. and Corp. James Norman Hall, aged 30 years, of Iowa author of "Kitchen's Mob."

Adjutant Manson was one of the first American aviators to come to France at the outbreak of the war and because of his long experience in flying was made aviation instructor. Corp. Hall, known as "Phil Hall" is well known on account of his books on war experience. He was discharged from the British army because of his wounds.

"Old Glory" Is Always Right of Line

Automobile Drivers Should Locate the Colors Properly

Automobile drivers who are in the habit of decorating the fronts of their machines with the flags of America and her allies appear to be uninformed regarding the proper place for "old glory" to occupy and generally place the stars and stripes in the center of the group.

While the matter of a proper display of the national emblem on an automobile is not a personal concern with us, in order to get the other fellows in line correctly, we want to say on the authority of our friend Captain Ayres, of the Eighteenth regiment, that the proper place for "Old Glory" is the right of the line always.

Remember this regulation boys, and redecorate by lifting the stars and stripes from the center of the group and place her on the "right of the line." "Old Glory" is always right.

EMORY HARTMAN HOME ON HIS VACATION

One of the late arrivals in Clearfield to join the group of young people who are returning home for the summer vacation is Emory Hartman, son of Rev. and Mrs. William W. Hartman. The young man graduated yesterday with the class of 1917 from the Central High school, Harrisburg, having been a member of the editorial staff of the High school Argus, the Classical Club and the champion debating team of the two Harrisburg High schools. The graduating class of Central High school numbered one hundred and ninety seven.

BRITISH MASONS CELEBRATING LONG LIFE

Parent Body of American Masonry Formed English Grand Lodge Two Hundred Years Ago

NOW HAS SUPREME AUTHORITY

London, June 23.—British Freemasons are celebrating the bicentenary of the first assembly of Freemasons in the United Kingdom and the establishment of the Grand Lodge in England, which is the parent organization of all Masonic bodies in America and throughout the English-speaking world.

At a meeting of the grand lodge held in the Royal Albert hall today, the Duke of Connaught, who has been grand master for the last 16 years, presided, and prominent members from all parts of the United Kingdom were in attendance. Tomorrow a service will be held at the same place which will be open to members of lodges other than the grand lodge.

Two hundred years ago four of the leading Freemasons' lodges in London, believing that in some way they had been neglected by Sir Christopher Wren, one of the foremost masons of his day, met at the Apple Tree Tavern in Charles street, Covent Garden and there solemnly resolved "to cement under a grand master as the center of union and harmony." Accordingly a year later, on June 24, 1717, "the day of light and roses," the first Grand lodge was formally initiated at the Goose and Gridiron in St. Paul's churchyard, and from that time onwards it became the supreme authority, without whose warrant no new lodge could be formed.

Five years after the establishment of the Grand lodge in England Masonry was introduced into France. In 1729 the Grand lodge of Ireland was established. About the same time the order made its first appearance in America. According to many Masonic authorities a provincial grand lodge and also a private lodge were established in Boston, Mass., in 1733. In 1734 the Boston lodge obtained a place on the roll of the Grand lodge of England. The same year Benjamin Franklin, probably initiated in England, wrote to the grand lodge of Massachusetts as grandmaster of

Held Important Trench In Face of Assault By At Least 800 From The Enemy Trenches

MACHINE GUN GREAT WEAPON

(By Henry Wood)

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Paris, June 10.—(By Mail)—Emile Alexandre Bigorne, machinegun operator, has just been awarded the Legion of Honor, the highest military decoration France can give to an ordinary soldier. Bigorne won the mark of distinction by repulsing singlehanded a German counter attack.

Not less than 800 Germans were killed, wounded or put to flight.

Bigorne's exploit demonstrates to some extent the role the machinegun has come to play in the present war where it is without question the most formidable weapon now known. Its death dealing effects far exceed those of heavy artillery and are probably only approached by the "Soixante-quinze" guns of the French.

Following one of the French advances in the early part of the present offensive Bigorne found himself holding down a German trench in company with a dozen other machinegun men. The Germans had kept them isolated all night with a barrage fire and early in the morning had shown indications of preparing a counter attack.

With the gradual increase of the morning lights the German fire became more accurate with the result that one by one Bigorne's comrades were killed. Orders had been given to hold the trench at all costs. When Bigorne found himself finally the sole survivor with a heavy German counter attack preparing a few dozen yards in front of him he gathered together the machinegun belts of his dead comrades. Altogether he found himself in possession of about 1,000 cartridges.

Adjusting his gun and placing the cartridge belts near where he would be able to feed them in himself, he waited until the first Germans were close in before opening his deadly fire. The Germans began falling. First one by one. Then as they crowded to the attack, by fives, then by twenties and fifties. Bigorne never wasted a shot. Yet, as the Germans went down by the score, still others leaped up in their places.

In the end Bigorne found himself with a last cartridge belt and a whole column of Germans still swarming to the assault. He fed the belt in and then took a last, long sweep across the entire front of the approaching Germans. It was his last cartridge belt but it proved sufficient, for under his deadly aim, the entire column broke and dashed back to its trench.

For two hours Bigorne continued in his position, waiting to see what the Germans would do. Finally, he was relieved before another attack was launched, and on being conducted to the rear he was greeted by his general who announced that he was to be recommended for the Legion of Honor.

Make Another Attempt To Flaunt Banners

Two Women Promptly Arrested By Two Patriotic Policemen

(By United Press)

Washington, June 23.—Escaping a line of police from the suffrage headquarters to the White House today two militant pickets bore a banner to the White House gates where they were immediately arrested by policewomen. The police characterized the affair as a "surprise attack" but the picketwomen were on hand within a few minutes after the pickets arrived. The two women arrested were Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, of Philadelphia, who was attacked in the anti-suffrage demonstration this week and Miss Gladys Grenier of Baltimore.

SECOND WARD BOYS CONTRIBUTE

The Second Ward Hose Company at a special meeting last evening made a contribution of $50 to the local Red Cross fund.

The boys also decide that there will be no more dances held in the hose house this summer and fall.

Market Street Was Scene of Runaway

Eugene Henry Upsets His Milk Wagon and Horse Runs Off

A collision between an automobile and a horse and buggy, followed by a runaway, created a little excitement on Market street about 10 o'clock this morning. The run in occurred at the corner of Third and Market and was due in large measure to the narrowness of Third street. A rig was tied in front of Woodward & McPherson's drug store and Archie Moyer, of Faunce, in his automobile and Eugene Henry, driving a one horse milk wagon, attempted to negotiate the turn at one and the same time. When he saw the quarters were becoming pretty close Mr. Moyer stopped his machine, and when young Henry attempted to drive through the narrow opening between the other rig and the auto the front wheel of his wagon caught in the mud guard of the Moyer machine. The horse made one jump, overturning the rig and thus throwing the driver and his milk bottles onto the brick street. It then dashed down Market street with the overturned milk wagon dangling at its heels.

The runaway was making a beeline for two automobiles parked along the curb near the court house corner but James McPherson, of Montgomery, saved a greater smashup by catching the frightened animal by the head and halting him on the sidewalk a few feet away from the first machine.

Young Henry suffered a badly bruised arm due to striking the brick when he was thrown from the rig, while the body of the milk wagon was badly demolished and many bottles were smashed.

The Rishels Are Doing Their Bit

Three Boy Babies in One Third Ward Family

That war times are responsible for boy babies has long been the contention of "store box philosophers" the country over. That this generally accepted statement is true seems to be borne out by the experiences of Contractor Ashley Rishell and his family, respected residents of the Third Ward of Clearfield.

Old Dr. Stork has been pretty busy in the Rishell family the past few weeks. His first call was at the home of Arthur Rishell, Contractor Rishell's eldest son, where a fine young soldier was deposited. A few days later the bespectacled long legged old gentleman winked his silent flight on another trip to the original Rishell home and Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Rishell have since been rejoicing over the arrival of another soldier boy—the eleventh branch on the family tree. The end was not yet, however, and on Monday last the family of Preston Rishell, their second son, was augmented by the arrival of a husky general for one of Uncle Sam's armies of the future.

Now who can say the Rishells are not doing their bit.

CELEBRATED 84th BIRTHDAY

A happy birthday celebration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Endres in the Fourth ward today, the occasion being the celebration of the 84th birthday of Mrs. Barbara Endres, one of Clearfield's oldest and most highly respected residents.

A number of out of town guests were present and an enjoyable day was spent. Mrs. Endres enjoys excellent health and is remarkably active for one of her years. She was the recipient of many handsome remembrances during the day.

CO. NO. 1 GIVES TO RED CROSS

At a special meeting last evening Fire Company No. 1 voted unanimously to contribute $25 to the local Red Cross fund. The boys also purchased $1000 worth of Liberty Loan Bonds. One of their members, Harry Mose, is with Pershing in France, so it can just be said that No. 1 is doing its bit.

American Delegates Issue Statement

Fall in With German Plan And Issue Statements As Directed

By Arthur E. Mann

(By United Press) Stockholm, June 23.—"The self-styled American Socialist Delegates" to the German International peace conference today issued a statement on the "American position on peace." One of the schemes was for a union or federation with the view of rebuilding the war stricken nations and general disarmament after the war. "The American war aims" as expressed by Davidovich, Goldferr and Reinstein, the three "American delegates" are based on the "no indemnity, no annexation" principle. The terms also ask for the return of all territory including the Allies' return of the German colonies. The fate of Poland is to be decided by the people by a referendum vote.

SQUARING ACCOUNTS

Two items comprise the account which compels the United States to send gold to Japan. The first is the debt which we have accumulated over there because our Democratic tariff enables the Japanese to sell us more goods than we can sell to the Japanese. This adverse balance of trade has to be paid for. We cannot pay it in goods; so we must pay it in money. The other item is that created by the purchases of war material by our Allies. We have two-thirds of the world's stock of gold just now, and so we are made the medium through which gold gets to Japan. This item will probably now disappear from the account between the United States and Japan inasmuch as the huge loans which we are lately making to our Allies will all be expended here—and our manufactures will secure the benefit of the Allies' orders, which have heretofore gone to Nippon. The other item will remain—and it will probably increase. We shall doubtless witness little if any diminution in our gold shipments to Japan—because Japan will continue to enter our free markets with her goods and she will probably send even more of them over here in order that she may keep employed men whom the cessation of munition orders will take from that line of activity.

MUST AWAKE OR HAVE LONG WAR

American must awaken and organize for war on an enormous scale, or face a long period of ghastly fighting and world-wide suffering.

This was the message brought before the International Rotary Convention at Atlanta by Pomeroy Burton, manager and director of the London Daily Mail and other British papers.

"By a long period I mean from five to twenty years or more," said Burton.

Burton predicted that if America doesn't wake up and strike hard and quick, our own shores will be menaced.

"Why does the average American citizen fail to grasp the vital fact that if Germany should destroy the British fleet or overthrow the massed forces of the Allies on the western front, the result would be quick national death for this greatest of all world's republics?" he asked.

"The reasons for America's strange lethargy in the face of real national danger are twofold," he said.

"First, the Allies' policy of close censorship has resulted in keeping the full flow of war facts and a reasonable understanding of the war's developments from reaching the people.

"Second, the attitude which unfortunately was taken by leaders of public opinion during the earlier stages of the war, that it was no concern of this country.

"This attitude unquestionably served to create a sense of entire indifference to the war issues in the mind of the American people generally."

War Time Thrift

The money to carry on the war must come from the savings of the people. That already invested in business, must be distributed as little as possible. It is our part to save that we may lend to Uncle Sam the money necessary to equip his Army and Navy.

We are not asked to cut out necessary or desirable expenses. But we must do away with all waste and extravagance. We must save our money; and when our Country calls we must stand ready to lend our savings to the Government to make the military forces effective.

Pennsylvania. About the same time Franklin published the Masonic constitution. Another notable pioneer of the Masonic order in America was George Washington, who was initiated at Fredericksburg, Va., in 1752.

Two of the men who stood out most prominently in the creation of the Grand lodge of England were John Theophilus Desaguliers, a Huguenot refugee, and James Anderson, a Scottish preacher and writer. Coming to London in 1710 Anderson became pastor of the Presbyterian church in Swallow street. He was a prominent Freemason and besides had considerable learning. It was, therefore, natural that when the Grand lodge determined to produce an authoritative digest of the constitutions of the brotherhood they should assign the task to him. This work, under the title of "The Constitutions of the Free Masons," containing the History, Charges, Regulations, etc., of that Most Ancient and Worshipful Fraternity," was long recognized to be the standard code by English Freemasons and an American facsimile of the first edition was issued in 1855 at New York.

John Theophilus Desaguliers was a Frenchman, a native of La Rochelle. His father was a Protestant pastor, and when, in 1685, the edict of Nantes was revoked by Louis XIV, and the persecution of French Protestants followed, Jean Desaguliers fled hastily to England with his little son, then only two years old. After a stay in Guernsey, Desaguliers came to London and became pastor of the French chapel in Swallow street. He also kept a school at Islington, where, later on, his son assisted him. Some time later the way opened up for John Theophilus to go to Oxford and, in course of time, he became a lecturer on experimental philosophy. In 1712 he was back again in London where he settled down in Channel-row, Westminster, and continued to lecture. Desaguliers will always be remembered as being the first man to give popular lectures on natural science, a venture which met with marked success. He was the author of many books and worked in collaboration with James Anderson in compiling the "Constitutions."

King George V is not a member of the Masonic order, but his father, King Edward, was a most enthusiastic Mason, and, as Prince of Wales, filled the office of Grand Master for upwards of 26 years. The German Emperor, like King George, has kept apart from the fraternity, although his father also was an enthusiastic Mason. The Emperor's brother Prince Henry of Prussia, is, however, associated with the order.

It is interesting to add in this connection that a vast majority of the Presidents of the United States, from George Washington down to William H. Taft, have been Masons. A notable exception, however, was John Quincy Adams, who talked and wrote antagonistically to the Order, but lost much vigor.

WHAT'S THE USE

In Suffering When You Can Get Goldine?

If you suffer with a sick, sour, bloated, gassy stomach, there's little life for you. Relief—permanent relief—must come before you can ever begin to live right, for there can be no health or comfort with a bad stomach. Take, for instance, Mrs. S. C. Reed, of Clearfield. She said: "I was troubled with my stomach, kidneys and had rheumatism. I could hardly get around to do my work. I had such pains that I could sleep but little at night and in the morning could hardly get up. Goldine was recommended to me by a friend and I read of it in the papers, of people who lived in Clearfield who received help from Goldine, that I decided to try it. I am glad I decided to try Goldine for I soon found my appetite was beginning to improve, could sleep better, nervousness left me and don't worry about things now. Also my strength is coming back. I advise anyone suffering as I did to try Goldine. The first bottle will demonstrate the merit of the new tonic."

THE GOLDINE MAN

It will replace all the bad blood it drives out with pure blood, full of vital force. It will furnish you with the kind of blood that increases energy and ambition that puts the entire body in such physical condition that brain and muscles will not fatigue easily. A free dose if you wish it. We do not use one medicine for everything.

Try Goldine just one and find out what good health really means.

Remember, I am at Stewart's Drug Store. A talk with me about Goldine doesn't cost anything and may save you years of suffering.

xx, 31—Commentary Prepared by
Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Lesson I.—Jesus gives sight to the blind. John ix, 1-38. Golden Text, John ix, 3, "I am the light of the world." We should all appropriate (all true believers) the words of Christ in verse 4, "I must work the works of Him that sent Me," for we are sent by Him as He was sent by the Father, and all our works are prepared for us (John xvii, 18; xx, 21; xxii, 10).

Lesson II.—Jesus raises Lazarus from the dead. John xi, 37-44. Golden Text, John xi, 25, "Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life." This sickness and death, like the blindness of last lesson, were for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby (verse 4). His delay in coming to the death-stricken sisters, His seeming neglect of them, the death and burial of Lazarus, were sore and severe testings, but resurrection made all right.

Lesson III.—Jesus, the Good Shepherd. John x, 1-18. Golden Text, John x, 11, "I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep." He was no hireling, never thought of pleasing Himself or of seeking anything for Himself, either in the way of His own will or His own glory.

Lesson IV.—Jesus anointed at Bethany. John xii, 1-11. Golden Text, Mark xiv, 8, "She hath done what she could." All is well in this home now, for Lazarus has come back, so it will be in the resurrection; and we shall forget our miseries and remember them as waters that pass away (Job xi, 10). In Mary we see true, loving, believing, costly worship; in Martha restful service; in Lazarus resurrection life, and we look onward to His table in His kingdom.

Lesson V.—Jesus welcomed as king. John xii, 12-20. Golden Text, John xii, 13, "Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord, even the king of Israel." That most sad day when He went over the city because of the sufferings that would come upon it on account of their rejection of Him and His kingdom will yet give place to a glad day, when they shall say: "Lo, this is our God! We have waited for Him, and He will save us."

Lesson VI.—Jesus the servant of all. John xiii, 1-17. Golden Text, Mark x, 44, "Whoever would be first among you shall be servant of all." The events of that passover night which He so desired carry us back to the great night in Egypt when the nation was born and on to the future fulfillment when they shall be born again.

Lesson VII.—Jesus, the True Vine. John xv, 1-6. Golden Text, John xv, 5, "I am the vine; ye are the branches." Not only is He the True Vine, the True and Righteous Israel, but He is the Righteous Branch always bearing fruit. The wonder is that He can bear fruit, through such as we are, but He who ordains peace for us works all our works in us (Isa. xxvi, 12; Phil. ii, 13; Eph. ii, 10). In redemption He does all for us fully and freely, and unless He does all in our daily life nothing counts.

Lesson VIII.—The importance of self control. Isa. xxviii, 1-13. Golden Text, I Cor. ix, 25, "Every man that striveth in the games exerciseth self control in all things." As in verse 10 of this chapter we have the only sure foundation for all deliverances from sin and self, so it is also in I Cor. iii, 11-15, where we learn that lack of self control or denial may lead to great loss on the part of saved people.

Lesson IX.—The Holy Spirit and His work. John xiv, 26; xvi, 14. Golden Text, John xiv, 26, "He shall teach you all things." From first to last the Holy Spirit is the great and only worker and has been called the executive of the Godhead. He loves to magnify the Father through the Son, guide us into all truth, take of the things of Christ and show them unto us and show us things to come.

Lesson X.—Jesus betrayed and denied. John xviii, 1-18. Golden Text, Isa. liii, 3, "He was despised and rejected of men." When we consider that one numbered with the twelve, though he never was really one of them, sold Him to His enemies, and another who was truly a disciple denied Him with oaths and curses, and all forsook Him and fled, we can only wonder at His faith in God under such adverse circumstances.

Lesson XI.—Jesus crucified; John xix, 16-30. Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 3, "Christ died for our sins." As we consider this most awful event in all the past history of the world, we should continually ponder and prayerfully meditate upon such words as our Golden Text, along with Gal. iii, 13; I Pet. ii, 24; Heb. i, 3; ix, 12; x, 10, 12; Isa. liii, 5, 6, and then see Him before His enemies as an example for us, His followers.

Lesson XII.—The Risen Lord. John xi, 1-18. Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 20, "Now both Christ been raised from the dead, the first fruits of them that are asleep." We should see ourselves as believers, crucified with Him, buried with Him, risen with Him, seated with Him and coming with Him in glory to set up His kingdom and reign with Him over the earth and reign with Him over the earth.

Lesson XIII.—The Risen Lord. John xi, 1-18. Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 20, "Now both Christ been raised from the dead, the first fruits of them that are asleep." We should see ourselves as believers, crucified with Him, buried with Him, risen with Him, seated with Him and coming with Him in glory to set up His kingdom and reign with Him over the earth and reign with Him over the earth.

CURWENSVILLE

"Take a peep inside" invites the passerby to tarry at Shirey's variety store widow to look into a long cylinder whereby he sees a fine representation of that angel of mercy, a Red Cross nurse. Such timely window displays rooted in patriotism and humanity cannot be too highly commended.

Mrs. George Sawtelle is having laid a much needed new brick sidewalk at the front of his recently purchased property on Filbert street.

Miss Martha Nolf, of DuBois, who is visiting Miss Mable Norris attended the senior dance last evening.

Curwensville Red Cross campaign for the first three days has raised over $3,500.00 and the committee are confident that the subscription will exceed $4,000.00. The responses has been generous and willing from all classes.

The senior dance held last evening in the L. O. O. M. ball room was one of the most successful ones yet held.

Mrs. Ella Strugares nee Zeigler, of Butler, Pa., formerly of Luthersburg, who died last Thursday of black diphtheria, was brought to Luthersburg for burial Friday. Interment being made in the Reformed cemetery. Her daughter Miss Florence, visited in Curwensville several times, and has the sympathy of her many friends. The deceased was a cousin of Mrs. Lynn Kester and Mrs. Alex Frank-houser of this place.

Miss Grace Jenkins and Blee Downing of Punxsutawney attended the Senior dance last evening.

Another evidence that our merchants are aggressive, may be seen in the Red Cross window display of the Boston store, I. Kantner, manager. The wounded patient shown upon a cot attended by an uniformed Red Cross nurse with first aid articles nearby appeals to one's patriotic and humane feelings. At hand are eloquent Red Cross posters of this sort: "If you can't go across with a gun COME ACROSS with your part of the Red Cross war fund." "They fight for you. Protect them. Help the Red Cross raise $100,000,000 at once." Picards picture the Red Cross in action amid war scenes and also more familiar ones in the home land. This timely portrayal of the necessity and needs of the Red Cross is highly to be commended as it furthers the raising of Curwensville's portion of the great Red Cross war fund this week.

Mrs. W. P. Watson of Clearfield, visited relatives in town yesterday and attended the Chautauqua.

Mrs. Perry Leach and daughter Miss Nell have returned home from a visit in Virginia and Washington, D. C.

Word was received yesterday that James H. Dale brother of Joe Dale, of George street who was operated upon in the hospital at Harrisburg Monday is in a critical condition.

Saul Robinson attended the Red Cross dance in DuBois Thursday evening.

Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania on July 16th, 1917, under the Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled "An Act to Provide for the Incorporation and Regulation of certain Corporations" approved April 29th, 1874, and supplements thereto in the Charter of an intended corporation to be called the COAL-MONT SUPPLY COMPANY, the character and object of which is for the buying, selling, and otherwise dealing in general merchandise and goods, wares and merchandise of all kinds. And for these purposes to have and possess and enjoy all the rights, benefits and privileges of the said Act of Assembly and its supplements.

Supply Company's Biggest Trout

That the contest inaugurated by the Sportsman's Supply Co. is arousing the enthusiasm of the local disciples of Isaac Walton was evidenced yesterday when Abe Campbell of O'Shanter sailed in with a real beauty, of the brook trout type.

He was out on Lick Run and before starting out supplied himself with a goodly supply of Abbey and Imbrie flies which have been giving so much satisfaction to the patrons of this popular sporting goods store. The particular fly used in landing this big one was a "Beaverkill." That it was a fly of quality was demonstrated by the fact that this is one of the big ones that did not get away.

The Sportsman's Supply Co., contest closes on Saturday next and if the local fisherman want a shot at the $5 rod, the $3 reel or the $1 line which have been offered as prizes for the three largest trout caught in the streams of the county, it is high time they were getting busy. The terms of the contest are liberal—about the only restriction being that only one trout of a catch may be entered in the contest.

"THE HONOR OF MARY BLAKE"

At The Tent Movies Tonight

There is a different charity than the mere friendly or fraternal giving of alms; there is a charity of heart and mind that, in some communities, seems to be a trait of character that has gone undeveloped. The little town of Hillsdale was one of these. When the minister called for a collection to benefit foreign missions the pennies which usually dropped into the plate were increased to nickels and dimes; the great charitable heart of the congregation was touched by the appeal for money to go to heathen lands. But when Mary Blake, an actress, was left stranded in the town, through sudden illness, she had a taste of Hillsdale charity—and Bluebird Photoplays have made engaging entertainment out of her experience. Under the caption of "The Honor of Mary Blake" at the Tent on Saturday night, Violet Mercereau will enact the role of Mary Blake, sick, friendless and among strangers. Had she been a Fiji Islander, seeking religious benefits, her fate might have been different—but she was "only an actress." There is a forceful moral veneer in this gripping photoplay entertainment in "The Honor of Mary Blake."

"THE SCARLET LETTER"

Special at the Globe Theatre Monday
The story of "The Scarlet Letter" which has been pictured by William Fox.

Hester Prynne, (Mary Martin), is the mother of a child whose father is unknown. She is sentenced to wear upon her breast a scarlet "A." As she stands on the pillory in old Puritan Boston, her aged husband, Chillingworth (Dan Mason) enters. He vows to run to earth her lover.

Authorities seek to separate Hester and Pearl, (Kittens Reichert); the Rev. Dimmesdale (Stuart Holmes), pleads for her hand and wins.

Dimmesdale wears away under a strange illness. Chillingworth, a physician, cares for him. Stricken at seeing Pearl making an "A" on her breast with burrs, the minister faints. Chillingworth tears open his shirt and sees an "A" branded there.

Later, Dimmesdale and Hester meet on the beach. Hester urges him to leave Boston with her. He agrees. A new life comes to him. Chillingworth cries out to the town that Hester has bewitched Dimmesdale. Hester is about to be burned when Dimmesdale bursts into the square, bares his breast, revealing an "A" seared thereon. He confesses himself the father of Pearl. He then falls and dies with his head in Hester's lap.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

IF WE were to buy materials at present market quotations the list price of each model in the Paige line would have to be very materially increased.

Please let that thought "sink in." It explains in very definite terms, just what we mean, when we speak of intrinsic value in a Paige Car.

It also suggests a very rare opportunity for the far sighted business man. It means that now is the time to buy your Paige, if you are interested in saving money.

We, of course, have protected ourselves by early purchases. Our present supply of materials was contracted for many months ago. But this supply cannot last indefinitely, and before very long, all list prices will have to be increased proportionately.

So, by all means, take advantage of this opportunity while it exists. Place your order for "The Most Beautiful Car in America" today. It will prove to be one of the soundest business investments that you have ever made.

RUSSIA REJECTS ANY IDEA OF A SEPARATE PEACE WITH GERMANY

New Ambassador From Newest Republic Stirs House To Cheers With Clear Statement of Russian Position

CHEERED HEARTILY AS WAS JOFFRE

Washington, June 23.—A storm of cheers that echoed and reverberated through the Capitol greeted Prof. Boris Bakhmeteff, head of the Russian Commission and the new ambassador to the United States when he declared in the House today that "Russia rejects any idea of a separate peace. The statement that Russia is for the establishment of a firm and lasting peace among Democratic nations. German autocracy prevents such peace. The new Russia is reorganizing its forces for active service with its allies."

Bakhmeteff was cheered as heartily and spontaneously as was Marshal Joffre.

Speaker Clark introduced Bakhmeteff as the "first ambassador from the Republic of Russia." Representative Meyer London, Socialist of New York, a native of Russia, was a member of the committee that greeted the mission. London was still smiling his pleasure when the Russian mission left the Capitol.

An Atlantic Port, June 23.—Another submarine was fired upon and hit by an American vessel it was reported today by the ship's crew which reached an Atlantic port. The firing took place June 6. The vessel was a day out from Genoa it was stated. The submarine was 600 yards from the vessel when she fired a torpedo which the ship avoided. The stern gun immediately opened fire and blew off the submarine's periscope. The submarine disappeared. The American vessel was not damaged.

WAR PROSPERITY HITS NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS

Washington Is Thronged With People and Every Available Room Has Been Rented

FAMINE IN STENOGRAPHERS

(By United Press) Washington, June 23.—War prosperity has hit Washington and those who have rooms to rent are getting rich. The Capitol's population is growing rapidly. Every train brings its load. War talk fills the air.

The government and the various industries that have established War headquarters here will need 50,000 more clerks before the dog days, according to conservative estimates. Already there is a famine in stenographers. Uncle Sam commandeered them.

New government offices are springing up all over the city. Department offices which for generations have been small, quiet affairs have suddenly become bloated to 20 times their usual size. This means more employees. The restaurants are busier than Coney Island chowder kitchens. The street cars are almost always jammed to the guards and frequently blocked. Apartment houses have made into hotels—residences into apartments. In some cases startling prices are demanded for cots. All rents are upward bound.

The telephone service is swamped—the messenger service overwhelmed. Streets are crowded and the aged hackmen are investing in Liberty Bonds. Now Uncle Sam is meditating commandeering more office space and ousting private firms. It's a seething situation—but—as the French say: "C'est la guerre."

More Aviators Join The Lafayette Squadron

All Are Americans of Considerable Experience And Notoriety

(By United Press) Paris, June 23.—Four additional American aviators have joined the Lafayette Flying Squadron according to word received here from the front today. They are Adjutant Duher, Manson, former aviation instructor at Camp Avoort and well known on account of his flying experience with Garza's army in Mexico. Corp. Daniel McDonagel, aged 25 years, of San Francisco. His mother lives at 2000 Broadway, New York. Corp. D. M. Peterson, of Honesdale, Pa. and Corp. James Norman Hall, aged 30 years, of Iowa author of "Kitchen's Mob." Adjutant Manson was one of the first American aviators to come to France at the outbreak of the war and because of his long experience in flying was made aviation instructor. Corp. Hall, known as "Phil Hall" is well known on account of his books on war experience. He was discharged from the British army because of his wounds.

"Old Glory" Is Always Right of Line

Automobile Drivers Should Locate the Colors Properly

Automobile drivers who are in the habit of decorating the fronts of their machines with the flags of America and her allies appear to be uninformed regarding the proper place for "old glory" to occupy and generally place the stars and stripes in the center of the group.

While the matter of a proper display of the national emblem on an automobile is not a personal concern with us, in order to get the other fellows in line correctly, we want to say on the authority of our friend Captain Ayres, of the Eighteenth regiment, that the proper place for "Old Glory" is the right of the line always.

Remember this regulation boys, and redecorate by lifting the stars and stripes from the center of the group and place her on the "right of the line." "Old Glory" is always right.

BRITISH MASONS CELEBRATING LONG LIFE

Parent Body of American Masonry Formed English Grand Lodge Two Hundred Years Ago

NOW HAS SUPREME AUTHORITY

London, June 23.—British Freemasons are celebrating the bicentenary of the first assembly of Freemasons in the United Kingdom and the establishment of the Grand Lodge in England, which is the parent organization of all Masonic bodies in America and throughout the English-speaking world.

At a meeting of the grand lodge held in the Royal Albert hall today, the Duke of Connaught, who has been grand master for the last 16 years, presided, and prominent members from all parts of the United Kingdom were in attendance. Tomorrow a service will be held at the same place which will be open to members of lodges other than the grand lodge.

Two hundred years ago four of the leading Freemasons' lodges in London, believing that in some way they had been neglected by Sir Christopher Wren, one of the foremost masons of his day, met at the Apple Tree Tavern in Charles street, Covent Garden and there solemnly resolved "to cement under a grand master as the center of union and harmony." Accordingly a year later, on June 24, 1717, "the day of light and roses," the first Grand lodge was formally initiated at the Goose and Gridiron in St. Paul's churchyard, and from that time onwards it became the supreme authority, without whose warrant no new lodge could be formed.

Five years after the establishment of the Grand lodge in England Masonry was introduced into France. In 1729 the Grand lodge of Ireland was established. About the same time the order made its first appearance in America. According to many Masonic authorities a provincial grand lodge and also a private lodge were established in Boston, Mass., in 1733.

In 1734 the Boston lodge obtained a place on the roll of the Grand lodge of England. The same year Benjamin Franklin, probably initiated in England, wrote to the grand lodge of Massachusetts as grandmaster of (Continued on page two)

FRENCH MACHINE GUN OPERATOR DECORATED

Held Important Trench In Face of Assault By At Least 800 From The Enemy Trenches

MACHINE GUN GREAT WEAPON

(By Henry Wood (United Press Staff Correspondent))

Pais, June 10.—(By Mail)—Emile Alexandre Bigorne, machinegun operator, has just been awarded the Legion of Honor, the Highest military decoration France can give to an ordinary soldier. Bigorne won the mark of distinction by repulsing singlehanded a German counter attack.

Not less than 800 Germans were killed, wounded or put to flight.

Bigorne's exploit demonstrates to some extent the role the machinegun has come to play in the present war where it is without question the most formidable weapon now known. Its death dealing effects far exceed those of heavy artillery and are probably only approached by the "Soixante-quinze" guns of the French.

Following one of the French advances in the early part of the present offensive Bigorne found himself holding down a German trench in company with a dozen other machinegun men. The Germans had kept them isolated all night with a barrage fire and early in the morning had shown indications of preparing a counter attack.

With the gradual increase of the morning lights the German fire became more accurate with the result that one by one Bigorne's comrades were killed. Orders had been given to hold the trench at all costs. When Bigorne found himself finally the sole survivor with a heavy German counter attack preparing a few dozen yards in front of him he gathered together the machinegun belts of his dead comrades. Altogether he found himself in possession of about 1,000 cartridges.

Adjusting his gun and placing the cartridge belts near where he would be able to feed them in himself, he waited until the first Germans were close in before opening his deadly fire. The Germans began falling. First one by one. Then as they crowded to the attack, by fives, then by twenties and fifties. Bigorne never wasted a shot. Yet, as the Germans went down by the score, still others leaped up in their places.

In the end Bigorne found himself with a last cartridge belt and a whole column of Germans still swarming to the assault. He fed the belt in and then took a last, long sweep across the entire front of the approaching Germans. It was his last cartridge belt but it proved sufficient, for under his deadly aim, the entire column broke and dashed back to its trench.

For two hours Bigorne continued in his position, waiting to see what the Germans would do. Finally, he was relieved before another attack was launched, and on being conducted to the rear he was greeted by his general who announced that he was to be recommended for the Legion of Honor.

Make Another Attempt To Flaunt Banners

Two Women Promptly Arrested By Two Patriotic Policemen

(By United Press) Washington, June 23.—Escaping a line of police from the suffrage headquarters to the White House today two militant pickets bore a banner to the White House gates where they were immediately arrested by policewomen. The police characterized the affair as a "surprise attack" but the picketwomen were on hand within a few minutes after the pickets arrived. The two women arrested were Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, of Philadelphia, who was attacked in the anti-suffrage demonstration this week and Miss Gladys Grenier of Baltimore.

Market Street Was Scene of Runaway

Eugene Henry Upsets His Milk Wagon and Horse Runs Off

A collision between an automobile and a horse and buggy, followed by a runaway, created a little excitement on Market street about 10 o'clock this morning. The run in occurred at the corner of Third and Market and was due in large measure to the narrowness of Third street. A rig was tied in front of Woodward & McPherson's drug store and Archie Moyer, of Faunce, in his automobile and Eugene Henry, driving a one horse milk wagon, attempted to negotiate the turn at one and the same time. When he saw the quarters were becoming pretty close Mr. Moyer stopped his machine, and when young Henry attempted to drive through the narrow opening between the other rig and the auto the front wheel of his wagon caught in the mud guard of the Moyer machine. The horse made one jump, overturning the rig and thus throwing the driver and his milk bottles onto the brick street. It then dashed down Market street with the overturned milk wagon dangling at its heels.

The runaway was making a beeline for two automobiles parked along the curb near the court house corner but James McPherson, of Montgomery, saved a greater smashup by catching the frightened animal by the head and halting him on the sidewalk a few feet away from the first machine.

Young Henry suffered a badly bruised arm due to striking the brick when he was thrown from the rig, while the body of the milk wagon was badly demolished and many bottles were smashed.

The Rishels Are Doing Their Bit

Three Boy Babies in One Third Ward Family

That war times are responsible for boy babies has long been the contention of "store box philosophers" the country over. That this generally accepted statement is true seems to be borne out by the experiences of Contractor Ashley Rishell and his family, respected residents of the Third Ward of Clearfield.

Old Dr. Stork has been pretty busy in the Rishell family the past few weeks. His first call was at the home of Arthur Rishell, Contractor Rishell's eldest son, where a fine young soldier was deposited. A few days later the bespectacled long legged old gentleman winked his silent flight on another trip to the original Rishell home and Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Rishell have since been rejoicing over the arrival of another soldier boy—the eleventh branch on the family tree. The end was not yet, however, and on Monday last the family of Preston Rishell, their second son, was augmented by the arrival of a husky general for one of Uncle Sam's armies of the future.

Now who can say the Rishells are not doing their bit.

CELEBRATED 84th BIRTHDAY

A happy birthday celebration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Endres in the Fourth ward today, the occasion being the celebration of the 84th birthday of Mrs. Barbara Endres, one of Clearfield's oldest and most highly respected residents.

A number of out of town guests were present and an enjoyable day was spent. Mrs. Endres enjoys excellent health and is remarkably active for one of her years. She was the recipient of many handsome remembrances during the day.

CO. NO. 1 GIVES TO RED CROSS

At a special meeting last evening Fire Company No. 1 voted unanimously to contribute $25 to the local Red Cross fund. The boys also purchased $1000 worth of Liberty Loan Bonds. One of their members, Harry Mose, is with Pershing in France, so it can just be said that No. 1 is doing its bit.

American Delegates Issue Statement

Fall in With German Plan And Issue Statements As Directed

By Arthur E. Mann

(By United Press) Stockholm, June 23.—"The self-styled American Socialist Delegates" to the German International peace conference today issued a statement on the "American position on peace." One of the schemes was for a union or federation with the view of rebuilding the war stricken nations and general disarmament after the war. "The American war aim" as expressed by Davidovich, Goldferr and Reinstein, the three "American delegates" are based on the "no indemnity, no annexation" principle. The terms also ask for the return of all territory including the Allies' return of the German colonies. The fate of Poland is to be decided by the people by a referendum vote.

SQUARING ACCOUNTS

Two items comprise the account which compels the United States to send gold to Japan. The first is the debt which we have accumulated over there because our Democratic tariff enables the Japanese to sell us more goods than we can sell to the Japanese. This adverse balance of trade has to be paid for. We cannot pay it in goods; so we must pay it in money. The other item is that created by the purchases of war material by our Allies. We have two-thirds of the world's stock of gold just now, and so we are made the medium through which gold gets to Japan. This item will probably now disappear from the account between the United States and Japan inasmuch as the huge loans which we are lately making to our Allies will all be expended here—and our manufactures will secure the benefit of the Allies' orders, which have heretofore gone to Nippon. The other item will remain—and it will probably increase. We shall doubtless witness little if any diminution in our gold shipments to Japan—because Japan will continue to enter our free markets with her goods and she will probably send even more of them over here in order that she may keep employed men whom the cessation of munition orders will take from that line of activity.

MUST AWAKE OR HAVE LONG WAR

American must awaken and organize for war on an enormous scale, or face a long period of ghastly fighting and world-wide suffering.

This was the message brought before the International Rotary Convention at Atlanta by Pomeroy Burton, manager and director of the London Daily Mail and other British papers.

"By a long period I mean from five to twenty years or more," said Burton.

Burton predicted that if America doesn't wake up and strike hard and quick, our own shores will be menaced.

"Why does the average American citizen fail to grasp the vital fact that if Germany should destroy the British fleet or overthrow the massed forces of the Allies on the western front, the result would be quick national death for this greatest of all world's republics?" he asked.

"The reasons for America's strange lethargy in the face of real national danger are twofold," he said.

"First, the Allies' policy of close censorship has resulted in keeping the full flow of war facts and a reasonable understanding of the war's developments from reaching the people.

"Second, the attitude which unfortunately was taken by leaders of public opinion during the earlier stages of the war, that it was no concern of this country.

"This attitude unquestionably served to create a sense of entire indifference to the war issues in the mind of the American people generally."

War Time Thrift

The money to carry on the war must come from the savings of the people. That already invested in business, must be distributed as little as possible. It is our part to save that we may lend to Uncle Sam the money necessary to equip his Army and Navy.

We are not asked to cut out necessary or desirable expenses. But we must do away with all waste and extravagance. We must save our money; and when our Country calls we must stand ready to lend our savings to the Government to make the military forces effective.

Pennsylvania. About the same time Franklin published the Masonic constitution. Another notable pioneer of the Masonic order in America was George Washington, who was initiated at Fredericksburg, Va., in 1752.

Two of the men who stood out most prominently in the creation of the Grand lodge of England were John Theophilus Desaguliers, a Huguenot refugee, and James Anderson, a Scottish preacher and writer. Coming to London in 1710 Anderson became pastor of the Presbyterian church in Swallow street. He was a prominent Freemason and besides had considerable learning. It was, therefore, natural that when the Grand lodge determined to produce an authoritative digest of the constitutions of the brotherhood they should assign the task to him. This work, under the title of "The Constitutions of the Free Masons," containing the History, Charges, Regulations, etc., of that Most Ancient and Worshipful Fraternity," was long recognized to be the standard code by English Freemasons and an American facsimile of the first edition was issued in 1855 at New York.

John Theophilus Desaguliers was a Frenchman, a native of La Rochelle. His father was a Protestant pastor, and when, in 1685, the edict of Nantes was revoked by Louis XIV, and the persecution of French Protestants followed, Jean Desaguliers fled hastily to England with his little son, then only two years old. After a stay in Guernsey, Desaguliers came to London and became pastor of the French chapel in Swallow street. He also kept a school at Islington, where, later on, his son assisted him. Some time later the way opened up for John Theophilus to go to Oxford and, in course of time, he became a lecturer on experimental philosophy. In 1712 he was back again in London where he settled down in Channel-row, Westminster, and continued to lecture. Desaguliers will always be remembered as being the first man to give popular lectures on natural science, a venture which met with marked success. He was the author of many books and worked in collaboration with James Anderson in compiling the "Constitutions."

King George V is not a member of the Masonic order, but his father, King Edward, was a most enthusiastic Mason, and, as Prince of Wales, filled the office of Grand Master for upwards of 26 years. The German Emperor, like King George, has kept apart from the fraternity, although his father also was an enthusiastic Mason. The Emperor's brother Prince Henry of Prussia, is, however, associated with the order.

It is interesting to add in this connection that a vast majority of the Presidents of the United States, from George Washington down to William H. Taft, have been Masons. A notable exception, however, was John Quincy Adams, who talked and wrote antagonistically to the Order, but lost much vigor.

WHAT'S THE USE

In Suffering When You Can Get Goldine?

If you suffer with a sick, sour, bloated, gassy stomach, there's little life for you. Relief—permanent relief—must come before you can ever

THE GOLDINE MAN

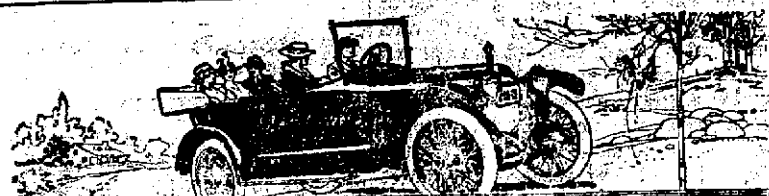

begin to live right, for there can be no health or comfort with a bad stomach. Take, for instance, Mrs. S. C. Reed, of Clearfield. She said: "I was troubled with my stomach, kidneys and had rheumatism. I could hardly get around to do my work. I had such pains that I could sleep but little at night and in the morning could hardly get up. Goldine was recommended to me by a friend and I read of it in the papers, of people who lived in Clearfield who received help from Goldine, that I decided to try it. I am glad I decided to try Goldine for I soon found my appetite was beginning to improve, could sleep better, nervousness left me and don't worry about things now. Also my strength is coming back. I advise anyone suffering as I did to try Goldine. The first bottle will demonstrate the merit of the new tonic."

It will replace all the bad blood it drives out with pure blood, full of vital force. It will furnish you with the kind of blood that increases energy and ambition that puts the entire body in such physical condition that brain and muscles will not fatigue easily. A free dose if you wish it. We do not use one medicine for everything.

Try Goldine just one and find out what good health really means.

Remember, I am at Stewart's Drug Store. A talk with me about Goldine doesn't cost anything and may save you years of suffering.

BLACK SAFETY TREAD TIRES

THE strength and durability of Goodrich Black Safety Tread Tires are ground into the roads of our nation from Main to California.

Six Fleets of Goodrich Test Cars, heavy cars and light cars, daily write the truth about Goodrich Tires on the worst roads in six widely different regions of our country.

Sand, rock and gravel, and every freak of climate are testing our Goodrich Tires through millions of miles of roughing it.

The answer of this nation-wide test of the Test Car Fleets—an answer told in 300,000 tire miles weekly—is:

Lesson XIII.—Second Quarter,
For June 24, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John xxi, 15-25.
Quarterly Review—Golden Text, John
xx, 31—Commentary Prepared by
Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Lesson I.—Jesus gives sight to the blind. John x, 1-9. Golden Text, John x, 3, "I am the light of the world." We should all appropriate (all true believers) the words of Christ in verse 4, "I must work the works of Him that sent Me," for we are sent by Him as He was sent by the Father, and all our works are prepared for us (John xvii, 18; xx, 21; xxii, 10).

Lesson II.—Jesus raises Lazarus from the dead. John xi, 37-44. Golden Text, John xi, 25, "Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life." This sickness and death, like the blindness of last lesson, were for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby (verse 4). His delay in coming to the death-stricken sisters, His seeming neglect of them, the death and burial of Lazarus, were sore and pervers feelings, but resurrection made all right.

Lesson III.—Jesus, the Good Shepherd. John x, 1-18. Golden Text, John x, 11, "I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep." He was no hireling, never thought of pleasing Himself or of seeking anything for Himself, either in the way of His own will or His own glory.

Lesson IV.—Jesus anointed at Bethany. John xii, 1-11. Golden Text, Mark xiv, 8, "She hath done what she could." All is well in this home now, for Lazarus has come back, so it will be in the resurrection; and we shall forget our miseries and remember them as waters that pass away (Job xi, 10). In Mary we see true, loving, believing, costly worship; in Martha restful service; in Lazarus resurrection life, and we look onward to His table in His kingdom.

Lesson V.—Jesus welcomed as king. John xii, 12-20. Golden Text, John xii, 13, "Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord, even the king of Israel." That most sad day when He went over the city because of the sufferings that would come upon it on account of their rejection of Him and His kingdom will yet give place to a glad day, when they shall say: "Lo, this is our God! We have waited for Him, and He will save us."

Lesson VI.—Jesus the servant of all. John xiii, 1-17. Golden Text, Mark x, 44, "Whoever would be first among you shall be servant of all." The events of that passover night which He so desired carry us back to the great night in Egypt when the nation was born and on to the future fulfillment when they shall be born again.

Lesson VII.—Jesus, the True Vine. John xv, 1-6. Golden Text, John xv, 5, "I am the vine; ye are the branches." Not only is He the True Vine, the True and Righteous Israel, but He is the Righteous Branch always bearing fruit. The wonder is that He can bear fruit, through such as we are, but He who ordains peace for us works all our works in us (Isa. xxvi, 12; Phil. ii, 13; Eph. ii, 10). In redemption He does all for us fully and freely, and unless He does all in our daily life nothing counts.

Lesson VIII.—The importance of self control. Isa. xxviii, 1-13. Golden Text, I Cor. ix, 25, "Every man that contendeth in the games exerciseth self control in all things." As in verse 10 of this chapter we have the only sure foundation for all deliverances from sin and self, so it is also in I Cor. xiii, 11-15, where we learn that lack of self control or denial may lead to great loss on the part of saved people.

Lesson IX.—The Holy Spirit and His work. John xiv, 26; xvi, 14. Golden Text, John xiv, 26, "He shall teach you all things." From first to last the Holy Spirit is the great and only worker and has been called the executive of the Godhead. He loves to magnify the Father through the Son, guide us into all truth, take of the things of Christ and show them unto us and show us things to come.

Lesson X.—Jesus betrayed and denied. John xviii, 1-18. Golden Text, Isa. liii, 3, "He was despised and rejected of men." When we consider that one numbered with the twelve, though he never was really one of them, sold Him to His enemies, and another who was truly a disciple denied Him with oaths and curses, and all forsook Him and fled, we can only wonder at His faith in God under such adverse circumstances.

Lesson XI.—Jesus crucified; John xix, 1-30. Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 3, "Christ died for our sins." As we consider this most awful event in all the past history of the world, we should continually ponder and prayerfully meditate upon such words as our Golden Text, along with Gal. iii, 13; I Pet. ii, 24; Heb. i, 3; 1x, 12; x, 10; 12; Isa. liii, 5, 6, and then see Him before His enemies as an example for us. His followers.

Lesson XII.—The Risen Lord. John xi, 1-18. Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 20, "Now both Christ been raised from the dead, the first fruits of them that are asleep." We should see ourselves as believers, crucified with Him, buried with Him, risen with Him, seated with Him and coming with Him in glory to set up His kingdom and reign with Him over the earth and reign with Him over the earth.

Lesson XIII.—The Risen Lord. John xi, 1-18. Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 20, "Now both Christ been raised from the dead, the first fruits of them that are asleep." We should see ourselves as believers, crucified with Him, buried with Him, risen with Him, seated with Him and coming with Him in glory to set up His kingdom and reign with Him over the earth and reign with Him over the earth.

CURWENSVILLE

"Take a peep inside" invites the passerby to tarry at Shirey's variety store widow to look into a long cylinder whereby he sees a fine representation of that angel of mercy, a Red Cross nurse. Such timely window displays rooted in patriotism and humanity cannot be too highly commended.

Mrs. George Sawtelle is having laid a much needed new brick sidewalk at the front of his recently purchased property on Filbert street.

Miss Martha Nolf, of DuBois, who is visiting Miss Mable Norris attended the senior dance last evening.

Curwensville Red Cross campaign for the first three days has raised over $3,500.00 and the committee are confident that the subscription will exceed $4,000.00. The responses has been generous and willing from all classes.

The senior dance held last evening in the L. O. O. M. ball room was one of the most successful ones yet held.

Mrs. Ella Strugares nee Zeigler, of Butler, Pa., formerly of Luthersburg, who died last Thursday of black diphtheria, was brought to Luthersburg for burial Friday. Interment being made in the Reformed cemetery. Her daughter Miss Florence, visited in Curwensville several times, and has the sympathy of her many friends. The deceased was a cousin of Mrs. Lynn Kester and Mrs. Alex Frank-houser of this place.

Miss Grace Jenkins and Blee Downing of Punksutawney attended the Senior dance last evening.

Another evidence that our merchants are aggressive, may be seen in the Red Cross window display of the Boston store, I. Kantner, manager. The wounded patient shown upon a cot attended by an uniformed Red Cross nurse with first aid articles nearby appeals to one's patriotic and humane feelings. At hand are eloquent Red Cross posters of this sort: "If you can't go across with a gun COME ACROSS with your part of the Red Cross war fund." "They fight for you. Protect them. Help the Red Cross raise $100,000,000 at once." Picards picture the Red Cross in action amid war scenes and also more familiar ones in the home land. This timely portrayal of the necessity and needs of the Red Cross is highly to be commended as it furthers the raising of Curwensville's portion of the great Red Cross war fund this week.

Mrs. W. P. Watson of Clearfield, visited relatives in town yesterday and attended the Chautauqua.

Mrs. Perry Leach and daughter Miss Nell have returned home from a visit in Virginia and Washington, D. C.

Word was received yesterday that James H. Dale brother of Joe Dale, of George street who was operated upon in the hospital at Harrisburg Monday is in a critical condition.

Saul Robinson attended the Red Cross dance in DuBois Thursday evening.

Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania on July 16th, 1917, under the Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitled "An Act to Provide for the Incorporation and Regulation of certain Corporations" approved April 29th, 1874, and supplements thereto in the Charter of an intended corporation to be called the COAL-MONT SUPPLY COMPANY, the character and object of which is for the buying, selling, and otherwise dealing in general merchandise and goods, wares and merchandise of all kinds. And for these purposes to have and possess and enjoy all the rights, benefits and privileges of the said Act of Assembly and its supplements.

Big Fish Contest Ends Saturday, June 30

Fine $5 10c 10c 10c Sportsman's
Supply Company Biggest Trout

That the contest inaugurated by the Sportsman's Supply Co. is arousing the enthusiasm of the local disciples of Isaac Walton was evidenced yesterday when Abe Campbell of O'Shanter sailed in with a real beauty of the brook trout type.

He was out on Lick Run and before starting out supplied himself with a goodly supply of Abbey and Imbrie flies which have been giving so much satisfaction to the patrons of this popular sporting goods store. The particular fly used in landing this big one was a "Beaverkill." That it was a fly of quality was demonstrated by the fact that this is one of the big ones that did not get away.

The Sportsman's Supply Co., contest closes on Saturday next and if the local fisherman want a shot at the $5 rod, the $3 reel or the $1 line which have been offered as prizes for the three largest trout caught in the streams of the county, it is high time they were getting busy. The terms of the contest are liberal—about the only restriction being that only one trout of a catch may be entered in the contest.

ON THE SCREEN

"THE HONOR OF MARY BLAKE"

At The Tent Movies Tonight

There is a different charity than the mere friendly or fraternal giving of alms; there is a charity of heart and mind that, in some communities, seems to be a trait of character that has gone undeveloped. The little town of Hillsdale was one of these. When the minister called for a collection to benefit foreign missions the pennies which usually dropped into the plate were increased to nickels and dimes; the great charitable heart of the congregation was touched by the appeal for money to go to heathen lands. But when Mary Blake, an actress, was left stranded in the town, through sudden illness, she had a taste of Hillsdale charity—and Bluebird Photoplays have made engaging entertainment out of her experience. Under the caption of "The Honor of Mary Blake" at the Tent on Saturday night, Violet Mercereau will enact the role of Mary Blake, sick, friendless and among strangers. Had she been a Fiji Islander, seeking religious benefits, her fate might have been different—but she was "only an actress." There is a forceful moral venerated in gripping photoplay entertainment in "The Honor of Mary Blake."

"THE SCARLET LETTER"

The story of "The Scarlet Letter" which has been pictured by William Fox.

Hester Prynne, (Mary Martin), is the mother of a child whose father is unknown. She is sentenced to wear upon her breast a scarlet "A." As she stands on the pillory in old Puritan Boston, her aged husband, Chillingworth (Dan Mason) enters. He vows to run to earth her lover.

Authorities seek to separate Hester and Pearl, (Kittens Reichert); the Rev. Dimmesdale (Stuart Holmes), pleads for her hand wins.

Dimmesdale wears away under a strange illness. Chillingworth, a physician, cares for him. Stricken at seeing Pearl making an "A" on her breast with burrs, the minister faints. Chillingworth tears open his shirt and sees an "A" branded there.

Later, Dimmesdale and Hester meet on the beach. Hester urges him to leave Boston with her. He agrees. A new life comes to him. Chillingworth cries out to the town that Hester has bewitched Dimmesdale. Hester is about to be burned when Dimmesdale bursts into the square, bares his breast, revealing an "A" seared thereon. He confesses himself the father of Pearl. He then falls and dies with his head in Hester's lap.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

IF WE were to buy materials at present market quotations the list price of each model in the Paige line would have to be very materially increased.

Please let that thought "sink in." It explains in very definite terms, just what we mean, when we speak of intrinsic value in a Paige Car.

It also suggests a very rare opportunity for the far sighted business man. It means that now is the time to buy your Paige, if you are interested in saving money.

We, of course, have protected ourselves by early purchases. Our present supply of materials was contracted for many months ago. But this supply cannot last indefinitely, and before very long, all list prices will have to be increased proportionately.

So, by all means, take advantage of this opportunity while it exists. Place your order for "The Most Beautiful Car in America" today. It will prove to be one of the soundest business investments that you have ever made.
